

How Has Protocol 4 of the Learned Elders of Zion Shaped Global Trends ?

Sixbert SANGWA • July 16, 2024

In our modern world, where information and misinformation often intermingle, it is crucial to examine the historical and geopolitical impacts of influential documents. One such document is The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, a widely debated text that contains the Illuminati's plan for humanity until the world is fully handed over to Lucifer. Despite its dismissal by conspirators who work behind the scenes to influence global trends, the Protocols have significantly shaped socio-economic theories, political strategies, and religious practices. Just as the devil operates in the shadows, sowing confusion and deceit, this document has left a trail of misunderstanding and manipulation. As Christians, we must not ignore such information but rather scrutinize it carefully. This short article aims to explore the key elements of Protocol 4 titled "Materialism Replace Religion", and how they have shaped global trends throughout history.

Stages of a Republic's Evolution

The Protocol 4 begins with a description of the transformation of a republic from chaotic mob rule to demagoguery, leading to anarchy, and ultimately to an unseen despotism controlled by a secret organization. According to the document, every republic initially experiences a phase of mad raging by the blind mob, characterized by social unrest and instability. This phase is followed by demagoguery, where charismatic leaders exploit public sentiment, leading to further chaos and anarchy. The final stage is despotism, but not overt and legal despotism; rather, it is a hidden, secretive form of control executed by this clandestine group. This unseen despotism manipulates society from behind a screen of constantly changing agents, ensuring that the secret force remains powerful and unaccountable.

Historically, many political upheavals align with these stages. For instance, the French Revolution began with widespread social unrest and mob rule, proceeding to the Reign of Terror under demagogues like Robespierre, and ultimately leading to Napoleon Bonaparte's authoritarian regime. Similarly, the Russian Revolution started with mass protests and chaos, followed by the rise of charismatic leaders such as Lenin and Stalin, who led the nation into a period of totalitarian rule. These historical examples showcase how unseen forces can manipulate societal structures, leading to significant shifts in governance and control. In recent times, the 2023 cryptocurrency market crash and subsequent economic instability have mirrored these stages. Initial chaos and public outcry over lost investments led to the emergence of influential figures advocating for stricter regulations and centralized control over digital currencies. This situation has further highlighted the power of unseen forces in shaping economic policies and control mechanisms.

The Power of Invisible Forces

The protocol 4 goes on to assert the existence of an invisible force that wields power behind the scenes, utilizing organizations like Freemasonry as fronts to achieve its aims. This secretive power structure is claimed to be invulnerable to overthrow due to its obscured nature and the ignorance of the general populace about its existence. This unseen hand orchestrating world affairs has led to a pervasive disturbance across nations. For instance, the fall of empires such as the Russian, Ottoman, and Austro-Hungarian has been attributed to behind-the-scenes manipulations and orchestrations, aligning with the Protocol's assertion of an invisible force.

Undermining Faith and Promoting Materialism

Protocol 4 emphasizes the plan to undermine faith in the true God and replace it with materialism and the pursuit of economic gain. This strategy aims to weaken the moral and spiritual foundations of society, making people more susceptible to control. The document suggests that faith in God provides a foundation for societal stability and governance, and therefore, it must be destroyed to achieve the clandestine group's goals. The Bible warns against such manipulations. In Isaiah 5:20, it states, "Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter." This approach has been reflected in the secularization trends observed in many societies. The decline in religious adherence and the rise of consumer culture can be seen as manifestations of this strategy. By promoting material needs and arithmetical calculations over spiritual values, societies become more focused on economic gain, often at the expense of their moral and ethical principles. Additionally, the prosperity gospel, which teaches that faith can lead to financial success and physical well-being, has further contributed to this materialistic focus. Many prosperity gospel preachers, some of whom are rumored to have affiliations with secretive organizations like the Illuminati, emphasize wealth as a sign of divine favor. This shift towards materialism and away from spiritual values exacerbates the erosion of traditional religious beliefs, leading to societies that prioritize economic gain over moral integrity. From a biblical standpoint, this is starkly opposed to the teachings of Jesus, who emphasized the importance of faith and warned against the dangers of serving wealth over God (Matthew 6:24).

Diverting Minds Towards Industry and Trade

Protocol 4 also suggests diverting the focus of nations towards industry and speculative trade, leading to economic instability and the erosion of social and religious cohesion. It advocates for placing industry on a speculative basis, where the results of labor slip through the hands of the workers and pass into the control of the elite classes. This economic manipulation is designed to create disenchanted, cold, and heartless communities, fostering a strong aversion towards higher political structures and religion. The impact of this strategy can be seen in the increasing economic inequality and the volatility of global markets. The speculative nature of modern economies, with the focus on stock markets and financial instruments, often benefits a small elite while leaving the majority in precarious conditions. This has led to widespread disillusionment with political and economic systems, as seen in movements like Occupy Wall Street, which protested against the perceived dominance of financial elites. The Bible warns against the love of money and the pursuit of wealth at the expense of spiritual and moral values (1 Timothy 6:10), highlighting the destructive potential of such economic manipulation.

The Cult of Gold and Material Gain

The intensified struggle for superiority and the shocks delivered to economic life, as described in the protocol, create communities driven solely by the pursuit of wealth and material pleasures. This results in a society where gain becomes the only guide, and material wealth is elevated to the status of a cult. This materialistic worldview fosters a strong aversion towards religion and higher political ideals, creating a populace that is cold, heartless, and easily manipulated by those in power. This shift towards materialism and the erosion of communal and spiritual values are evident in contemporary society. The rise of consumer culture and the prioritization of economic success over personal relationships and ethical considerations are manifestations of this trend. The Bible cautions against this in 1 Timothy 6:10, stating, "For the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil." By fostering a culture that worships gold, communities become disenchanted and cold, furthering the divide between the privileged and the underprivileged. The Bible teaches that true fulfillment comes not from material wealth but from a relationship with God and living according to His principles (Matthew 6:33). The promotion of materialism undermines these teachings, leading to a society that is spiritually impoverished and divided.

Reflection and Concluding Thoughts

Throughout history, the strategies outlined in the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion have been used to manipulate and control populations. Particularly under Protocol 4, titled "Materialism Replaces Religion," methods such as distorting Scripture and introducing material-focused teachings, diluting Christian doctrine to pave the way for ecumenism, interfaith dialogue, and fraternity, have aimed to undermine and destroy Christianity. This protocol emphasizes the need to replace spiritual values with materialistic ones, stating, "IT IS INDISPENSABLE FOR US TO UNDERMINE ALL FAITH, TO TEAR OUT OF THE MIND OF THE 'GOYIM' THE VERY PRINCIPLE OF GOD-HEAD AND THE SPIRIT, AND TO PUT IN ITS PLACE ARITHMETICAL CALCULATIONS AND MATERIAL NEEDS." These tactics have destabilized religious structures and promoted materialism, leaving a lasting impact on socio-economic and religious dynamics. By understanding these strategies, we can better navigate the complex interplay between power, control, and societal dynamics. As believers, it is crucial to discern truth from falsehood and uphold the integrity of God's teachings. Proverbs 3:5-6 reminds us, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight." As we navigate these challenging times, it is essential to seek God's guidance and wisdom, trusting in His ultimate sovereignty over all earthly powers.
